Did You Know?
We’ve Moved the Open Lab!
Lab 3 is now the open lab in the Library. That means whenever the Library is open, the lab is available for checking email, doing research, working on assignments or surfing the Internet. It will not be used for classes. This change means Lab 1 will now be available outside library hours. The new entrance can be accessed from the Atrium (or the former Student Union).

New Databases!
Over the summer, the Library subscribed to 13 new databases, bringing the total to 45 databases that are available to currently enrolled students, faculty and staff. Below is a list of some of the new additions:

- ADA Evidence Library
- Food Science Source
- GREENR
- Lynda.com
- SportDiscus
- Stylesight

Check out http://jwudenver.libguides.com/databases for a complete list of databases as well as detailed descriptions and tutorials on how to use these tools effectively and efficiently.

Remember databases are available 24/7. The library provides both on-campus and off-campus access, allowing you to access databases from anywhere, as long as you have a computer and an internet connection.

Off-campus connection problems? Contact the Library at 303.256.9345 or denvercampuslibrary@jwu.edu for assistance.

Library FAQ
Wondering how to find recipes using the Library’s catalog or databases? Need a SWOT analysis for a class assignment? Having trouble accessing a database from home? Not sure where to go to find a printer on campus? Or, maybe you just want to know the hours for the fitness center or dining hall?

You can find the answer to all of these questions and hundreds more through a new service called Library FAQ. The service is available 24/7 and allows you to ask questions about Library and campus services and resources, doing research, and more. If the question has been asked before, you’ll get an answer immediately. If not, you will receive a response within 24 hours at most. You can access this new service at http://jwudenver.libanswers.com or by visiting the Library’s homepage at http://jwudenver.libguides.com.
