Did You Know?

The Library now opens at 7:45am Monday through Friday. As well, we will be open on Thursday evenings until 10pm.

Where Research Happens 24/7

The Library is always looking for ways to make its collections more robust and research easier. These are just a few of the new electronic resources we’ve added recently.

Databases:

- Sports Fan Market: Demographic characteristics of sports fans who watch sports on TV or online, attend games, or purchase apparel with sports logos. Numerous sports covered.

LibGuides:

- Herbs and Spices
- Leadership
- Marine Biology
- Sociology
- Sustainability
- Anatomy (Coming Soon!)

Library and Community Leadership Institute host Craft Hope Service Day.

On Wednesday, November 24, the Library and Community Leadership Institute co-sponsored a service event to make handmade crafts for charity. Over a dozen people participated in the event and made 32 hats, 10 dresses, and 10 blankets. The crafts will be donated to local and international organizations including Head Huggers, Little Dresses for Africa, and Project Linus.

The Library staff will continue to collect crafts through Monday, December 13. Donations can be dropped off at the Library’s Check Out Desk.

Campus Reads No Impact Man!

Throughout the Winter term, the Arts & Sciences department will be hosting events and activities revolving around the Campus Reads book, No Impact Man, by Colin Beavan.

- Essay Contest: Write a 5-7 page essay on sustainability and JWU using at least 7 sources and MLA documentation, and you could win $75-150. Contact Velda Iverson (viverson@jwu.edu) for more details.
- Book Discussions: Discussions about the book will be taking place throughout the Winter term. Dates and times are forthcoming. For more details, contact Deb Pasquarella (dPasquarella@jwu.edu).

Featured New Arrivals

Are We Born Racist? (BF575.P9 A74 2010)

Combining research from neuroscience and psychology, this collection of essays examines the question of whether we are born with biases based on race, gender, age, religion, and sexual orientation and whether we can learn to control ourselves and come to appreciate our differences.

Carl Warner’s Food Landscapes Call Number

An amazing collection of landscapes constructed entirely from fruits, vegetables, cheeses, breads, fish, meat, and grains. Each photo is spectacular on its own, but every image in is followed by an essay about the creative process and stories from the photo shoots.

Hazing: A Deadly Game (DVD) (LJ 31 .H39 2000)

Examines the long and disturbing history of campus deaths and incidents related to fraternity hazing. Pledges who have broken the code of silence recount their initiation experiences.
